Why Education Matters?

Education Matters was created by the Public School Forum of North Carolina to provide the public with the real facts about the state of public education in North Carolina. This weekly television show explores everything from the history of public education to the impact of legislation and policy decisions on our public schools.

Education Matters gets away from a traditional he said/she said format, having two pundits on either side of an issue debate a policy. Instead, the goal is to help the public understand how a policy plays out on the ground, in our schools, and what kinds of impact these policies are having on our students and teachers.

Education Matters does not just provide data and facts, but also context. What do the numbers mean? What do they tell us? And how do they compare to other states and other countries.
